Q5 (A). Myra/Manish, the Editor of the school newsletter, is known for her excellent writing skills, creativity, and eye for detail. She enjoys producing high-quality content and encourages new ideas from her team. However, she sometimes spends too much time perfecting articles, which leads to missed deadlines. She has to choose an assistant editor who can help publish the newsletter on time while maintaining its quality.

Tanvi: Highly disciplined, manages time effectively, carefully edits for grammar/spelling, ensures tasks meet deadlines, dependable/organised, but not very creative.

Rahul: Imaginative, creates catchy headlines/layouts, suggests innovative ideas, easily distracted, leaves work incomplete, needs frequent reminders for deadlines.

Based on the profiles, analyse and decide who would be the better assistant editor for Myra/Manish. Consider teamwork, complementary skills, creativity, time management, and responsibilities. (100-120 words)

SELECTION OF ASSISTANT EDITOR FOR SCHOOL NEWSLETTER

Tanvi is the better choice for the role of Assistant Editor. Manish already possesses strong creative skills and an eye for detail. However, his main challenge is managing time and meeting publication deadlines.

Tanvi brings excellent discipline, strong organizational skills, and strict time management. She edits articles carefully for grammar and ensures tasks are completed before deadlines. In contrast, Rahul is imaginative but lacks focus and misses deadlines easily. Hiring Rahul would worsen the problem of delayed publication.

Tanvi's time management skills complement Manish's creative strengths perfectly. Her disciplined approach will help publish the school newsletter on schedule while maintaining high quality.
