Subject: Urgent need to manage the stray dog menace in Vasundhara

Sir/Madam,

Through the columns of your esteemed newspaper, I wish to draw the attention of municipal authorities towards the rising menace of stray dogs in Sector 15, Vasundhara.

Recently, our locality has witnessed an alarming increase in canine aggression, resulting in several bite incidents involving children and senior citizens. Packs of stray dogs roam the streets late at night, barking relentlessly and chasing two-wheelers, creating fear among commuters and residents.

While animal welfare must be respected, public safety cannot be compromised. The local municipal corporation must immediately initiate systematic sterilization and vaccination drives to control their population. Additionally, establishing designated feeding zones and sheltering aggressive strays can ensure a balanced, safe environment for both humans and animals.

I urge the concerned authorities to take prompt action to resolve this pressing civic safety issue.

Yours sincerely,

Subject: Promoting responsible digital consumerism among youth

Sir/Madam,

I am writing to express my deep concern regarding the growing culture of unbridled online shopping among the youth in urban centers.

While e-commerce offers convenience, it has fueled impulse buying and excessive consumerism among students and young professionals. This trend leads to financial instability and mental anxiety. Furthermore, the extensive single-use plastic packaging and carbon emissions from door-to-door delivery fleets cause severe environmental degradation, conflicting with our sustainability goals.

To address this, educational institutions should organize financial literacy and environmental awareness workshops to cultivate mindful purchasing habits. Digital platforms must also adopt biodegradable packaging and eco-friendly logistics options.

I hope your widely read daily generates public discussion to encourage sustainable consumer practices among our youth.

Yours sincerely,
Rajesh / Renu

Subject: Need for open green spaces in urban residential colonies

Sir/Madam,

Through your reputed publication, I wish to highlight the critical shortage of open green spaces and public parks in residential colonies like Mayur Vihar.

Unplanned urbanization has converted open lands into concrete structures, leaving minimal room for recreational parks. Consequently, children are deprived of outdoor play, and adults lack space for daily exercise. This sedentary lifestyle contributes to rising physical health issues and mental stress among urban residents.

In alignment with sustainable development goals, local urban planning bodies should revitalize existing vacant plots into community parks and vertical gardens. Incorporating green zones is essential for improving air quality and encouraging healthy community living.

I request the civic planning authorities to prioritize green infrastructure development for overall public well-being.

Yours sincerely,
Aarav / Aanya
